TRUMPET Closes Another Season

Another year of college life is almost behind us, and with this issue of the publication the job will be finished for another season.

This is the time when one forgets all his worries, sleepless nights and headaches and remembers only what has been for gain during his college years.

At such a time it is fitting to acknowledge all of the work which has been produced by the department editors and their staffs. Special thanks should be given to the TRUMPET advisor, Miss Margaret Wolff, who has helped us over a rough year to some commendable improvement. It is due largely to her efforts that this publication was able to raise its rating in nation-wide competition.

Let us forget, the reporters, who tracked down stories all over the campus at all times of the day or night, have been a great encouragement with their pluck and constant improvement.

Beside all, we have the students, faculty members and all those who have contributed toward Wartburg's development during the past year to thank for "making news" on and off the campus. It is with their help that we were able to fill six pages with news every issue this year.

Good luck to Omar Bonderud and his new staff during the coming year!

Sharing Spiritual Gifts At Wartburg

When St. Paul wrote his epistle to the Christians at Rome he was silent in describing his interest in them and his desire to visit them... Said he, "For I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift." If we taxed our imaginations slightly, we would perhaps see Paul in Rome preaching to the Romans, instructing them; we would hear Paul and the Romans sharing their joys, their shortcomings, their trials in labor, their blessings, their conversions, in short, all their spiritual gifts.

As we look back on a year spent at Wartburg, it is not hard to find a sense of fulfillment in the sharing of our spiritual gifts with those of other students. The evening chapel services, the convocations, special services, even classes, give us opportunities to share spiritual gifts... Whether we have done so depends on the individual and his willingness to share the rest...

In reflection upon the past school year, there come to us many instances when we failed to share as Christians should... There were days when we were disinterested in our friends. There were days when a rooming with an instructor would have given us new confidence, but we waited in vain... There were days when we got up on the wrong side of the bed, and we hurt someone by our actions... All these things belong to our failures...

It is hard to see our responsibility in sharing spiritual gifts... If so, then the source of our spiritual gifts must be examined... Jesus said, "I am the Bread of Life..." He must be our first and final inspiration. If we eat Him, our love will be expressed in service to the community, spiritual gifts will flow. If we do not eat Him, we will go on in failure... It is not too late to rectify our mistakes; greater opportunities lie ahead... Let us then, resolve to share our spiritual gifts with others... "That I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me."

Parochial Schools Provide Openings

Many Wartburg students do not fully realize the urgent need for teachers to fill the many vacancies in our Lutheran schools. The fact is that Christian instructors are needed who have been trained in church colleges.

If we are to expect great things from the future from our churches, we must begin with the training of youth. This means that we must continue our Christian convictions and Christian training. Such people can gain the respect of the young people and in this way teach them Christian ideals. This should be uppermost in our minds when we are deciding how we can best serve our Lord.

There are a number of future teachers graduating from our own college this spring. Their services will be greatly appreciated if they accept these parochial school positions. The wages are probably a bit less and the conditions not the best, but the blessings each one will receive will far outweigh all the discomforts.

To be able to teach and work with children of our church school is one of the highest callings of Christian service. Teaching in parochial schools should be seriously considered by future teachers.

Fads and Fashions

By Joan

As the last issue goes to press, we on the staff are already getting pangs of nostalgia for the smell of "presh and pulp." What could be more opportune than a junior-senior banquet to furnish us enough flounces, frills and lovely ladies to "fad and fashion about" until we see you all next year!

Forget the thought that your "ed" should ever resort to slumbering, but it was run slipping in and out of the closet, and the curtains and ameches, getting a new slant on formal, "fogey." (You may take a slight bow for that.)

It's neither time nor space to mention things other than the some thousand bows from which come bangles, bracelets, towels, rackets, orange crates, make-up kits, knitting bags and so on into the list.

It's a little prematurely, but for those of you who didn't get them at all, here's a review:

Elsie — a "graduation" gal, was there in royal blue taffeta fashioned with sweetheart neck-

line and long tight-fitting sleeves.

She had a very low back with her gown of pearls.

A white jersey dress—full skirted with a blue-striped belt. The round neckline followed into short puffed sleeves, and her red sandals made a striking contrast to her gown.

Mary Steffens — looked lovely in a taffeta gown with blue belt and bright plaid skirt. The same plaid trimmed the square neck and capped sleeves of the dress. For a bit of "chamby," Mary had a rhinestone brooch and a sparkling ensemble. Mirthy embellished!

Some charming gals in white were Lois Lindquist, who had a lace-trimmed dress, known with silver sequin trim; Bobbie Becker in white taffeta and Jan Roethel in white with a marquise trimmed with fine lace.

Choosing pink were two grads: Mary Riedel, who paired in pink taffeta and an aqua-blue square neckline and cap sleeves. The low waistline featured a bustle.

Then Bührer's gown of pink crepe with a black velvet jacket lined in pink quilting.

Both the skirts were full-skirted. Both the necklines were pleated and a yoke of pink material ended in the neck.

Oh, yes, the young married set also represented, and we're glad! Ruth Hinckley was attractive in a ruff dinner gown which featured gold half-heads on the shoulders paired with a pink belt.

Another unusual gown was the silk skirt, round neck and capped sleeves.

The young lady may not have come from Georgia but she looked good enough to eat in peach chiffon, too.

Boutiques are an everyday occasion lately, but we know of at least two co-eds who have one each. They go for the gaudy with shiny white and wispy ones, as well as white satin embroidered—a something new in there to hear the "I do's," but wedding gown. Who could all day over summer anyway?

May each one's summer be one of thrilling things to do, exciting to meet and new clothes to wear.

Cupid On Rampage Takes Eight Hearts

Don Cupid has kept busy this past week both here and at the camp. More couples have made the bow in the knot of love with announcements of engagements and marriages.

They are as follows: Norma Lauer, Odessa, to Wm. C. Black, Waverly; from Oliver Lorna Karsten, freshman from Pierson, to Albert Wissink, freshman from Dubuque; from Gwendolyn Koenig, from Strawberry Point, to Keith Koch, sophomore from Waverly; and Alice H. Beckert, from Englehardt, junior from Waverly.

Exact dates for the marriage of two of the couples are not available, Alice and Bob will have seen June 3 as their wedding date while Keith and Donna Rose will be wed on August 1.

Chapel Choir Picnic Held After Concert

One of the more unique picnics of the year was held after the chapel choir, after its concert at Castle Grove Lutheran church, Monticello, on Sunday morning, May 18, by the Wartburg Chapel Choir, under the direction of Rev. H. E. Grunke.

The choir was singing as pastor. The choir was conducted by Prof. E. J. Schaefer.

Morning concert given by the choir was presented to a full church of listeners. Immediately after the concert, the choir was offered a noon banquet and entertained for a few hours in the social room of the Wartburg Social League.

The day was spent in picnic fashion, playing softball and croquet. A few of the more active members even took to sky ride planes by a dozen of the congregation who lived a few miles away.

Lunch was served in the middle of the afternoon, and the choir returned to the church.

Final appearance of the choir with its All-Russian program was in concert on May 18 at 8:30 p.m. The choir presented eight songs of its repertoire of Russian sacred music.

This concert was the third year this organization has been organized and has as its objective the training of voices which were not eligible for first choir.

Pi Sigma Initiates; Has Guest Speaker

Pi Sigma formal induction with Campus Chapter, Panama City, as guest speaker, was held on Sunday, May 11, in the parlors of the Wartburg.

Those novices were given initiations as they entered the room, and the initiates, who were upperclassmen, Emile Haeneman, president of the organization, Dolores Nichols, vice-president, Margaret Richman, Barbara Becker, Joan Sandrock, Mildred Reiter, Joan Gosselin, and Dorothy Smith, the initial letters of Pi Sigma, told of seven virtues necessary for every young woman.

Miss Berglund, student at Iowa State Teachers college, delighted her audience with her talk on personal and social activities.

Dimes Committee Makes Plans

If any student wishes to contribute to the Dimes Fund throughout the summer, he may do so by sending his contribution to the Wartburg March of Dimes, Wartburg College.

With these words, Dr. George L. Gough, president of Wartburg College, Freshman Class, recently announced that there would be no let-down in the work of the committee during the summer months.

According to Mr. Gotekel, the collection at the May 22 convocation will be the last opportunity for the news media to contribute. All of the $425.31 collected to date will have been turned over to the committee for the final packing on May 24. Shipments during the summer will probably be limited to one a month.

Commenting on the students' addresses which accompany each package, Dr. Henry C. Gough, director of the group, explained: "It takes some time to receive letters from some of the students, and we are receiving answers very soon."

"Although the response in contributions has been very fine," Dr. Gough said, "we believe there will be even more interest shown after students receive letters from over 100 parents who think their students have done very well thus far."

Concerning the suggested aid, if any student wishes to bring old clothes or other useful relief items with them in the fall, the March of Dimes Fund will be glad to accept them.
